BEEF TRUST CASE IS PAU

Disincorporation of the Metropolitan Meat Co. Ends It.

The dissolution of the incorporation of the Metropolitan Meat Company, which will take place next week if certain technical matters are straightened out, will in all probability end the "beef trust" case, which has for so long been slumbering peacefully. In other words, it looks as if the case were liable to pass away in its sleep. The matter of the disincorporation of the company was set for 12 o'clock yesterday. The attention of Treasurer Conkling was called to the fact that the Metropolitan Meat Company is a party defendant in the action brought by the United States to break up the alleged trust. Mr. Conkling immediately called up Attorney General Hemenway and asked him what effect the situation would have on the proposed disincorporation. Mr. Hemenway replied that he couldn't see that it need interfere. But he thought it would probably end the beef trust case because, once the defendant company were disincorporated, to go on with the case would be like trying to kill a dead man. United States District Attorney Breckons also joyfully agreed with this view of the matter.

TRIAL OF MORI BEGINS TUESDAY

Special Prosecutors Are Going to Handle Case Against Him.

The trial of Mori, the Japanese from Maui who stabbed Editor Sheba of the Shunpo, is set for next Tuesday, and will probably begin at that time, unless a continuance is granted, which is not expected by the prosecution. The case will not be prosecuted by the County Attorney or his deputies, nor will the legal department of the city and county government perform the duty of handling the prosecution of any of the cases arising out of the recent strike. Attorney Prosser stated yesterday morning that the course of employing special prosecutors will be continued, and that the firm of Kinney, Ballou, Prosser & Anderson will handle all such cases.

DEATH OF MIKE O'DOWDA.
Thomas O'Dowda received a wireless message yesterday afternoon to the effect that his brother Michael had died at Makaweli, Kauai, and the remains would be brought here on the Kinaiu this morning. Deceased was forty years of age, a native of the city of Dublin, and had been a resident of the Islands for twelve years. He was for several years at Ewa, under his brother Tom, and was very popular with everyone on the plantation. He was possessed of a fine tenor voice, but was seldom heard in public for the reason of his retiring disposition. The funeral will take place from Williams' undertaking parlors, Fort street, at 2:30 Monday afternoon.

ELLIS FAVORS SMALL FARMS

Interesting Talks on Important Topics at Aala Park Rally.

"It seems to me that it would be better if the land on this island, especially the government land, were divided up into small holdings," said Congressman Ellis of Oregon last night at Aala Park. There was no oratory of the spellbinder variety at the rally, but there was plenty of good, sound common sense in the remarks of the speakers.

In explaining the purpose of the meeting, the Honorable John C. Lane, who acted as chairman, said that the meeting was neither Republican, Democratic nor Home Ruler, but was entirely nonpartisan.

Congressman W. R. Ellis of Oregon struck a note which placed him in instant sympathy with his audience, when he made a plea for a subdivision of the land and the encouragement of the small farmer. He said in part:

"In passing around this beautiful island of yours, I was impressed by the vast plantations. It may be that this Territory can best be so administered; but I do not believe it. It seems to me that it would be better if the land, and especially the government land, were divided into small holdings. The homestead laws of the United States have brought about a system that is most desirable. It is possible for the poor man to hold a part of God's heritage, untrammelled by landlordism."

"We have lately inaugurated a vast system of government irrigation on the mainland. Arid soil, which once was worthless, has been made so productive that a large family can make a good living off three or four acres. Such a condition is certainly for the betterment of the people."

Barchfield's Talk.

Congressman Barchfield of Pennsylvania was the next speaker. He said in part:

"From a scant 3,000,000 persons in 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was signed, we have grown to be a mighty nation of more than 80,000,000 people. Today we raise and manufacture one-third of what the civilized world consumes. And we are yet in our swaddling clothes."

"Last year, you took care of sixteen great battleships in your fine port here. Those sixteen mighty engines of war were on their way to make a conquest of the world. But it was a conquest of peace. That magnificent cruise was in the interest of international peace and of trade."

"The world moves and we move with it. Today, 3000 miles from here, and nine degrees above the equator, we are engaged in joining the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. When that canal is completed, Honolulu will be the station at which ships, coming from New York, Boston, Philadelphia, New Orleans and other Atlantic coast seaports, will touch for coal and supplies, on their way to the Far East, the future market of the world."

"And when that canal is completed, we want ships to sail through it, manned by American sailors, built by American workmen in American yards, and, above all things, flying the American flag. What our nation needs is an American merchant marine."

The speaker then paid a high tribute to Delegate Kalaniana'ole, whom he characterized as not only a prince by birth, but a prince at heart and by nature.

Fred Beckley, who interpreted for Dr. Barchfield, seized the opportunity to make a little speech of his own, when the Congressman finished talking. The chairman tried to hush him up, but he refused to be hushed.

Congressman Miller of Kansas was the next speaker.

Miller Promises Protection.
Mr. Miller said that the government does not intend to leave these Islands open to foreign invasion. For the harbors, the nation will do what is necessary to make them the safest in the world, said he.

He added that when an alien people comes here to dwell among us and does not assimilate with us or obey our laws, then the sooner that people leaves the Islands the better. He expressed the belief that Japan has no wish to af-

CONGRESSMEN SPEED AROUND ISLAND IN AUTOS

Twenty-Four Machines Carry Visitors Through Oahu's Scenic Districts Without a Mishap.

The Congressional party went around the island yesterday in twenty-four automobiles, and the outing was most enjoyable.

The eighty-mile run was made without accident or trouble of any consequence, which was a tribute to the roads as well as to the management. The visitors were fascinated with the rapid changes in the scenery and the kindly hospitality extended to them along the route by natives and whites alike.

The start from the Young Hotel looked like a Vanderbilt cup meeting. Autos, large and small, were assembled under the direction of F. E. Thompson and T. H. Petrie and given numbers in the procession. The assignment of guests was about as published, with the addition of U. S. Senator Dillingham and those who accompanied him to Honolulu, and a few others. The start was made shortly after nine o'clock, and the head machine led off for the Pali, which was reached in a short time and the magnificent view from the Gap not only pleased the visitors but astonished them. Without delay the long line of machines ran down the winding road and out on the Konehe stretch of the belt road to Kaneohe. Generally speaking, this road was in good repair, and little difficulty was had. At one time L. L. McCandless' car, which was filled with Democratic Congressmen, stopped on the way where Road Overseer Paole was at work, and the Hawaiian politician was introduced to the lawmakers.

But the surprise of the day came when the first auto rolled into the beautiful grounds of Link McCandless' home in Koolau, where the visitors were taken under the big trees to cool off, and to be regaled with a buffet luncheon comprising a fine salad, cold turkey and ham, sandwiches, wine, White Rock and many other things just as good. The visitors had not expected this spread, nor had many of the local people. Mr. McCandless' bountiful hospitality was thoroughly enjoyed. The lanais were festooned with maile, and everything about the place bore a festive air.

When the famous Kaluanui beach was reached, the travelers found a number of Hawaiians on hand, and a pair of mules was anchored nearby to help any car which sank into the sand. The first few cars managed to get across the watery track called a road, but Dr. Murray's car got into a deep and soft

MACVEAGH'S SECRETARY TO REPORT ON ISLAND MATTERS

By Ernest G. Walker.
(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)
BEVERLY, Mass., August 23.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh, who is here today from his summer home at Dublin, N. H., indicated that his private secretary, Robert O. Bailey, now returning from Hawaii, is likely to have a lot of important information for the guidance of the administration in Hawaiian affairs during the next few months. The Secretary said that Mr. Bailey's errands to the Islands were not only for the Treasury Department in connection with the new public building, but also for the Attorney General and the Postmaster General and alike for the President.

It seems that Mr. Bailey was a little concerned lest he should not have enough to do while he was in Hawaii. So it was that the departments were set to work to find Hawaiian matters for him to look up. Before this search for work for Bailey was completed the members of the cabinet had entrusted to him investigations covering nearly all the Hawaiian matters before them. The President, who knows Mr. Bailey very well and likes him, had letters of introduction written to Governor Frear and others, so that Bailey should be properly accredited and therefore should have facilities for gaining the information he sought.

It is not unlikely that the reappointment of Postmaster Pratt will depend to some extent upon the report which Mr. Bailey brings back about the general situation and sentiment in Honolulu. There is reason for believing that his errand in connection with the new public building was in some part complimentary, as Secretary MacVeagh, much pleased with Bailey's services, as private secretary, wanted him to have a pleasant vacation and thought he could well look up the public building conditions in Hawaii and then on the way back stop at Seattle and make report upon the Treasury exhibit at that exposition.

But so many additional tasks were entrusted to the former newspaperman that he found his trip elevated well to the importance of an important commissioner. He is apparently expected to bring back a fund of information, independent of the usual official sources, upon which the administration can draw from time to time.

Just the nature of Mr. Bailey's errand for the Department of Justice has not been indicated here.

RAPID RISE OF RENTALS

Increase Has Been Shown by Report of the Bishop Trustees.

In the report of Job Batchelor as master of the twenty-fourth annual accounts of the trustees of the estate of Bernice P. Bishop, is one item which indicates very clearly the rapid rate at which rental prices have been increasing in Honolulu of late. The report of the trustees showed total receipts for the year ending June 30, 1909, of $333,878.22, and total expenditures amounting to $310,012.06, leaving a surplus of $23,866.16. This surplus, says the master in his report, is due principally to the increase of rentals over former years.

At the end of the year ending June 30, 1908, there was a deficit of $6322.45. This deficit is wiped out and there is a balance over and above of $11,543.71.

One hundred and two new leases have been executed during the year, making a total in effect of 595 leases and 55 tenancies-at-will. Rents collected during the year amounted to $159,657.96.

The revenue account shows total receipts of $162,554.45, which the tuition of the Kamehameha schools brings up to $174,225.30. The sum of $101,390.80 was expended on account of the Kamehameha schools, and $33,542.53 on general account, making a total of $34,933.33. The excess of revenues over expenditures was $39,291.97.

An inventory of the property shows the value of the estate to be now $2,915,925.49, an increase in value over the previous year of $39,085.02.

FIVE HONOLULANS TO VISIT CHINA PORTS

Jas. F. Morgan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, writes from San Francisco to Secretary Wood that the invitation to the Pacific Coast Chambers of Commerce to visit China as the guests of the Chambers of Shanghai, Nanking, Amoy, Canton, Foo Chow and Woo Chow has been accepted by the San Francisco Chamber on behalf of the other Pacific Coast organizations.

The party which will visit China will comprise about sixty delegates, five of whom will be from Honolulu, and they will make the trip next February. Mr. Morgan has signified his willingness to be one of the party and doubtless the other four can be easily marshaled.

Mr. Morgan wrote that he was about to leave for the Seattle fair.

CONGRESSMEN GO TO KAUAI TONIGHT

The Congressional party leaves for Kauai at ten o'clock tonight on the steamer Mauna Kea. Only the men of the party will take this trip, the ladies preferring to remain in Honolulu to do some shopping and prepare for the Hawaii trip on Tuesday. Autos will be at the Young Hotel at 9:30 p. m. to convey the guests to the Mauna Kea wharf.

The steamer will arrive at Nawiliwili tomorrow morning at daybreak, and the Kauai reception committee will meet and escort those by auto who desire to see the windward side of the island to Hanalei, where the steamer will be met. At Hanalei the party will breakfast aboard the steamer, proceeding on board to Waimea. The party will land and lunch at Gay's. From Waimea to Lihue the party will go by auto and have supper at the town and afterward attend a reception there. The party will sail for Honolulu tomorrow night, arriving here Tuesday morning.

At 12 o'clock noon the party will sail on the same steamer for Hawaii.

ATMOSPHERE IN THE EAST IS CLEARING

China and Japan Have Now Come to an Agreement.

(Associated Press Cablegrams.)
PEKING, September 5.—Plenipotentiaries of China and Japan yesterday signed the agreement which they have reached on behalf of their respective countries. The Japanese are highly pleased over the outcome of the negotiations while the Chinese declare themselves to be in the position of a man coerced by successive blows.

Six hundred students yesterday participated in the first competitive examination for students desirous of taking college courses in America. The cost of educating the successful candidates will be met out of the money which accrued to China when the United States remitted the Boxer uprising indemnity.

SIGNAL HONORS FOR DR. COOK

COPENHAGEN, September 5.—Dr. Cook is being royally feted. Last night he was tendered a banquet at which the foreign diplomats and 400 of the most distinguished men and women of Denmark were present.

After the banquet, the explorer was subjected to a merciless cross-examination by a score of newspaper correspondents. He retold the story of his discovery of the North Pole, and attributed his success largely to the assistance of the Eskimos and to the fact that he himself adopted their mode of living.

TWO KILLED IN BLOODY RIOT

FRANKFORT, Kentucky, September 5.—Two persons were killed here yesterday and several were wounded during a fierce riot which took place between militiamen and civilians. The trouble which led to the bloodshed started in a saloon. Eighteen arrests have been made.

CLYDE FITCH IS DEAD

CHALONS-SUR-MARNE, September 5.—Clyde Fitch, the noted playwright, died here yesterday. Fitch underwent an operation for appendicitis, from which he failed to rally.

DR. ATCHERLEY MUST STAY IN THE ASYLUM

Dr. John Atcherley must stay in the asylum. United States District Judge Woodruff yesterday afternoon, after listening to the lengthy arguments in the case, dismissed the writ of habeas corpus upon which Mrs. Atcherley was trying to secure the release of her paranoiac husband.
